INSTANT NOODLES DONATED TO QUAKE-HIT NEPAL.

World Instant Noodles Association (WINA) has supplied some 200,000 packages of instant noodles as emergency ration to earthquake-stricken Nepal. This is the joint relief effort with Nissin Foods Group. For the reasons of taste similarity and geographic proximity, India-based Indo Nissin Foods shipped out Top Ramen bag-type noodles. The products were transported by a land route to the national border with Nepal. The products were then delivered to the quake victims with the full support of C.G. Foods, a WINA member in Nepal.

After the earthquake, C.G. Foods provided some 500,000 packages of instant noodles along with drinking water, medical services, etc. as the company's own relief effort prior to WINA's food aid.
